and

Robert Williams of Williams Coulson,
who is the recipient of our Family Business Advisor of the Year Award.

About the Award Recipients:

Donald Fazio serves as president of Diamond Wire Spring. This third generation business founded by his father has grown and prospered under the leadership of this devoted family man. He succeeded his mother and has worked with his 4 brothers and now his son and nephew. His service to his community include president of the Family Business Roundtable and President of the Katz Family Enterprise Center.

Robert Williams is principal of Williams Coulson Attorneys at Law. Their practice helps bridge the generation gap for many local family businesses. As a founding member of the Family Firm Institute he continues to sponsor family business education programs for both the Family Roundtable and the Katz Family Enterprise Center. His volunteer role as facilitator, speaker and mentor has helped Pittsburgh family businesses learn to follow the "best practices" that enable generational growth.
